

11/5/69

Dear Paul,

I do hope you are well, several years ago, if I knew anything about the Rampart St. address Oswald used in Mexico. I do not know now whether it was North or South Rampart, but I believe it was South. Looking for something else I find the CB is report on William Allen Davis, III, who immediately told the FBI in Sacramento that he recognized Oswald on TV as the man he saw giving out literature on Canal St.

Simms' A.O. address was 313 N. Rampart (very close to Howell's bar on a later day and on the edge of the quarter). In addition to wondering about whether this is the address that gave him a job as a Rampart St. address when there is no record he ever had one, I also find myself wondering whether Simms could just have been strolling down the street, had a casual glance at a stranger, and four months later making a positive identification.

Do you know if anyone ever checked the address that gave 1 the N.Y. city directory for 1968 (in those years, there was one every two years only)?

Do you have anything on Eugene J. Tobes, A.O.: whenever someone is going through the indexes, if it is possible to include this name, please do.

Sincerely,

Arnold Glaser
